Since 1930, Quoizel has sought out top artisans to apply their handiwork to Quoizel's products and help to establish the company as one of the most consistent high-quality manufacturers in the lighting industry. Today, that search for craftsmanship has led Quoizel to tap artisans from all over the globe, using natural materials that are indigenous to exotic lands as well as applying hands-on techniques that have been passed down through generations of craftsmen here and abroad.

QUIZEL

Standing the Test of Time

Traditional furnishings have some history, whether the style harkens back to British Colonial, French Provincial, or Italian Renaissance roots among other influences. Traditional can range from the clean, simple lines of American Shaker furniture to ornate wood carving and inlays found in Italian craftsmanship. Traditional style is often presented as matching sets of furniture and work best with lamps and lighting fixtures that seamlessly fit into the room's aesthetic instead of serving as focal points.

Traditional décor is like comfort food for the home – it's a style many of us grew up with. The furniture might have some carved details that lend an air of formality, but many pieces have a look that is comfortable and familiar to many Americans. Warm chocolate or caramel-toned woods; deep jewel tones or florals in upholstery, drapery, and carpets; plus classic lines are all hallmarks of traditional décor. Lamps and fixtures with warm brass and soft pewter finishes will handsomely complement classic furniture. Traditional furnishings love symmetry, consider adding two matching table lamps or sconces in a room.

The Balanced Blend

Just as the name implies, Transitional home furnishings are not overtly Traditional nor definitively Contemporary. Instead, Transitional embodies elements of both ends of the style spectrum with some flourishes that give a nod to Traditional and attributes that evoke the minimalism of Contemporary. It's the most versatile of furniture and lighting styles and allows homeowners to create a highly personal look that blends in with existing furnishings and architecture.

Consider Transitional décor to be a happy medium, the bridge between staid and safe Traditional and the head-turning modern flair of Contemporary. It's the sweet spot between the ornate looks of a classic and the stark lines of cutting edge. Transitional is a chameleon in home décor, a style that can adapt to a variety of home furnishing styles and architecture. Unlike Traditional and Contemporary styles, furniture and lighting that are Transitional are easier to mix and match with existing décor, allowing homeowners to achieve a more eclectic look.

The Here and Now

Not to be confused with the sharper, starker style of Modern, furniture and lighting that is Contemporary in style has rounded edges and a softer aesthetic. With Contemporary, lighting styles and furniture serve as attention-getting focal points in distinctive shapes or bold patterns. There is no room for clutter in Contemporary. The rooms appear clean and fresh with subtle sophistication. Contemporary décor tends to be light and tonal in hue, but perhaps with a pop of bright color as wall art, decorative pillows, or accessories.

Clean, fresh, and sophisticated sum up the Contemporary look. Furniture and lighting choices tend to be eye-catching and serve as distinctive focal points in the room. Contemporary can be tough to pull off if young children are in the house due to the style's typically light color palette (chocolate or peanut butter handprints will be noticeable) and clutter-free aesthetic (definitely a toy-free zone). Black is also a common color for Contemporary, but it can show marks just as easily as white. Bright pops of color punctuate the space through wall art, decorative accessories, or pillows.

Dining, Foyer and More

QUOIZEL

There are certain areas in the home where making a decorative statement really sets the tone for the rest of the house. The foyer and the dining room are two spots that are often the most memorable for guests. When they enter your home, the foyer is where they pause to take off their coats, hand the host a package, or are welcomed by family. While dining, there is plenty of time for everyone to notice the stunning fixture above the table. How these two areas are decorated and presented establishes a particular ambiance and lifestyle. Quoizel offers a wide variety of fixture styles, sizes, shapes, and finishes to dovetail nicely with the rest of your home.

Island Lights

QUIZEL

The kitchen has virtually replaced the family room as the central gathering spot for family and guests. Which area gets the most attention? The center island. Recessed lighting is fine for ambient lighting, but it doesn't provide the visual warmth and cozy ambiance that beautiful pendants can. Decorative fixtures over the island are the crowning touch that ties the look of your open floor plan together. Draw attention to the center island with island lights that provide task lighting for food prep while visually complementing the countertops and appliances.

Tiffany

QUOIZEL

Like classic cars and vintage collectibles, some styles not only endure but become highly prized. Stained glass has been a hallmark of elegance for more than 1,000 years, when it was commonly used to enhance cathedrals and churches. In the late 1800s, American painter Louis Comfort Tiffany learned the craft of glassmaking while working at several glasshouses in Brooklyn. He began perfecting his own techniques for stained glass by making his own opalescent glass in his New York factory and utilizing the copper foil technique. Tiffany's studio was also renowned for work in mosaics.

Today, Tiffany's name is synonymous with the category. Quoizel provides a range of looks that capture the Tiffany spirit – from highly traditional and transitional styles to more contemporary interpretations sure to suit any modern-day décor.

Whether you are looking for deep jewel tones and intricate patterns to serve as a statement piece in your home or whether you seek a light, neutral palette that offers the beauty of stained glass as a subtle complement to your room décor, Quoizel has dozens of Tiffany and art glass lamps and lighting fixtures that will suit your needs perfectly.

QUOIZEL

Naturals

When is it okay to go au naturelle? When furnishing your home, of course!

Natural materials add an extra dimension to lamps and lighting fixtures as no two pieces are alike. This attribute is what makes Quoizel's lamps and fixtures in the Naturals collection so distinctive. Quoizel taps the translucence of jade, agate, mica, pen shell, and capiz shell to give its shades a beautiful luminance when light shines through. Fossil stone, onyx, rattan and wood are also employed to provide a touch of uniqueness that will never go out of style.

For the homeowner who wants lighting designs that no one else in the neighborhood has, we say, go natural.

Pendants & PICCOLO PENDANTS QUOIZEL

Clean, airy looks are very popular in today's home décor, which is why pendants – often installed in a series of two or three – are desirable. Unlike a large lighting fixture that can look too chunky or oversized in a small kitchen, pendants are slim and have ample “air” around them that gives warm ambiance to an otherwise utilitarian space.

In urban lofts with high ceilings, the use of pendants brings lighting down to eye level. It adds a residential, comfortable feeling to a formerly commercial space when creating a casual dining area plus it provides more concentrated and useful illumination for kitchen tasks than recessed fixtures.

Pendants offer pops of color and illumination at eye level, which is perfect in kitchens where most illumination is recessed on the ceiling. Pendants above a kitchen island provide task lighting for food preparation and cleaning while providing visual coziness by bringing the light down to where people are sitting or standing.

Pendants are also among the easiest – and most economical – fixtures to change as your kitchen's décor is updated by new finishes on appliances or new cabinets and countertops.

Semi-Flush & Flush Mounts

QUOIZEL

Semi-Flush Mounts

Can a space be truly dressed without some functional jewelry? We think not.

Semi-flush mount lighting fixtures are more noticeable than flush mounts that hug the ceiling. The “semi” refers to the fact that these fixtures extend down from the ceiling just enough to warrant attention, perhaps with a gleaming finish, decorative glass, or jeweled accent. They provide ambient lighting, but with a bit of a stylish flourish that makes them stand out and accentuate the room’s décor instead of disappearing into the ceiling.

Why should rooms with low ceilings miss out on having decorative lighting fixtures? There might not be room to hang a larger chandelier, but a semi-flush that extends down just a bit from the ceiling could be the right remedy for areas that could use ambient lighting with a little oomph. Quoizel took all sorts of décor into account when it created a full line of semi-flush mounts designed to enhance many different styles.

Flush Mounts

Flush-mounted lighting fixtures are like that little black dress. They’re basic, but not boring – the kind of fixture you’ll be reaching for again and again when you need a light to fit neatly on the ceiling, but still have some modest decoration.

Rather than serve as a central part of your room décor like a chandelier, flush-mounts play a supporting role. These fixtures are unobtrusive with a slim profile that makes them ideal for areas with low ceilings, providing ample illumination for laundry rooms, hallways, walk-in closets, mud rooms, and entryways where illumination is needed but a clean look is desired.

Offered in finishes that coordinate with the rest of the design scheme, Quoizel’s flush-mounts are chameleons of style that are just basic enough to complement a variety of decorative looks.

Wall Fixtures

QUOIZEL

Wall fixtures are an extremely convenient and effective solution for providing additional illumination in rooms where there isn't a lot of space for table lamps or floor lamps – or if there is a concern of children knocking portable lamps over.

Dimmable wall-mounted fixtures are also a handy solution for bedrooms, entertainment rooms, powder rooms, and hallways.

Most rooms have at least one dark spot that just isn't adequately illuminated by an overhead fixture in the center. In fact, lighting the dark areas will actually make a room appear larger. One of the easiest remedies a homeowner can perform is to install a wall fixture in those darker sections. Wall fixtures can also be used to provide visual balance to a room. Quoizel offers a diverse product line of wall lighting to complement many of their larger lighting fixtures.

Table & Floor

QUIZEL

Table lamps and floor lamps do more than provide illumination, they can up the style quotient. In rooms lit with either recessed lights or a central lighting fixture, table and floor lamps provide a decorative resting spot for the eye and can bring light down closer to where it is most needed.

There are so many different styles available that you can opt to let table and floor lamps bolster the room's color palette or select neutral color schemes that offer ample lighting for living areas without detracting from decorative focal points already in place.

While most new homes are equipped with basic recessed lights, many older homes have one overhead fixture for the general lighting. Both scenarios need additional lighting to provide a comfortable atmosphere. For example, sitting on a chair or sofa to read without a nearby controllable light source could lead to eye strain. Table lamps near couches or chairs not only provide desirable light levels, but create focal points in the room at eye level that recessed lights or overhead fixtures cannot.

A floor lamp is a functional and decorative solution for brightening up the dark corner of a room. Best of all, like table lamps, they can be easily moved to accommodate to a room's changing use or new furniture arrangement.

Outdoor LIGHTING QUOIZEL

First impressions mean a lot. When guests pull up to your home, what's the first thing they see?

Path lights look more like an airport landing strip than a grand entrance. You can illuminate the path to your front door plus welcome visitors in style with a decorative lantern perfectly suited to complement your home's exterior.

Not only that, attractive lanterns can help bolster a home's resale value by contributing elegance for added curb appeal.

Turn your home's first impression up a notch by selecting Quoizel lighting fixtures that combine function with beauty.

All Quoizel outdoor products are rated for "WET LOCATION".

Mirrors

QUIZEL

Mirrors, mirrors on the wall are among the best decorating ideas of all!

Interior designers know a trick that not many homeowners do – mirrors can make a small room look bigger. Not only will mirrors brighten up a room by maximizing either natural daylight or electrified light, but they fool the eye with reflection by giving a space more perceived depth while they perform double-duty as wall art.

Today's mirrors have decorative frames in finishes that match most furniture styles and are available in distinctive shapes. An oversized mirror makes a grand statement but so can grouping several small mirrors together on a wall.

Quoizel decorative mirrors are available in many styles and sizes.

Choose the style that best fits your home décor!
